Marshune Mantell Potts Jr.

DEC 12, 1999 - FEB 9, 2021

Marshune Potts Jr. was brought into the world with welcoming eyes and a bright smile on December 12, 1999.

He was a son, proud father, brother, and uncle affectionately known to many as “Man-Man, Da-Da (dad), and Lil’ Marty”. In his earlier years, Marshune went to Sankofa Elementary for kindergarten. He then graduated from Shabazz Academy. From then on, he attended J.W. Sexton High-School until achieving his high school diploma.

He enjoyed camping, swimming, zip-lining, cabin stays, and playing basketball actively, developing his competitive and teambuilding skills. He worked and volunteered at Reach Out Ministries where he also helped build their ceilings and cut grass for those in nearby communities. He also spoke to and helped pass out food to those experiencing temporary homelessness at the Advent House Ministries.

Marshune’s greatest accomplishment was creating and raising his daughter Azariah who has been Marshune’s pride and joy. He was always protective and adamant over her and would frequently travel to be with her and pick her up regardless of where she was. She was his priority, and he did everything he could to provide for her. Each store he went to, if there was an item, he could purchase for her, he was sure to get it.

It was never a moment he wanted to be apart from her. His social media, although full of other things, was saturated by pictures and videos of his precious daughter.

Marshune was also known to be highly loyal to his friends and family. He was a compassionate and loving individual you could count on. He was an immensely selfless, soft-hearted person who did his best to help others throughout his life.

Oftentimes, he gave those around him clothes, shoes, money, and his time donations which included recreational activities, volunteer work, or hours spent in laughter.

He greatly enjoyed being a source of light and strength to others. Marshune loved telling teasing jokes, wildly drawn out entertaining stories; anything to bring smiles and laughter to another and brighten their day. He loved music. In his free time, he would freestyle, create his own raps, and listen to a variety of musical lyricists he was inspired by. He also had the joy of having an overprotective loving dog (Sparkle) for 4 years that he absolutely cherished. Marshune moved to Minneapolis to create a better future for himself and his daughter. His goal was to work, get his own place, and put himself back through school to continue to pursue his entrepreneurial endeavors.

He will be remembered for his hard-work, his honesty, generous smile and loud laugh he kept for family and friends, as well as the magnitude of kisses he'd make them receive to express his ever-lasting love. We have no doubts that Marshune still has our backs wherever his spirit is, we know he's pulling for his family and friends. Marshune showed others through action what love, loyalty, hard work, and support meant. Marshune precedes his loving and doting grandparents: Elmo Potts, Nathan Whitted (Grandfathers); Hilda Floyd, Annette Potts (Grandmothers); Marshune Potts Sr. (father), Valerie Floyd (mother), Vashune' Potts (sister), Shamece Rosencrans (Sister), Levi Rosencrans (nephew) along with Azariah Potts (daughter) who will carry his memory and legacy forward. He also leaves behind a host of aunts, uncles, and cousins. People who loved him: Julian "Juju" Shaner (best-friend), Elijah "Eli" Farrow (friend and associate), Maijauna "my-onna" Williams (sister in love)

The other night while I was sleeping, I was half awoken to tell, you Man Man "Ok, I got it Marshune" considering, I did not awake fully. I could hear your laughter. I never fully waken fully; you were telling you to love me and had kissed me good-bye like you have done so many times before. You see; mommy had visited me twice and her perfumed stayed right there beside me, nowhere else in the room, but she would not tell me who she was waiting for. (she was native American those spirits). I know you are in a good place "You made it". I knew it; you were an angel sent, to bring the truth out about people. in fact, all the angels are returning, being called back home. Love you too, I am here for my ggdaughter always. I will see you, thank you for being my grandson, and getting to know you. listen to mommy.

Obituary
 Marshune Potts Jr. was brought into the world with welcoming eyes and a bright smile on December 12, 1999.

He was a son, proud father, brother, and uncle affectionately known to many as "ManMan, Uncle Mark, and Lil' Marty". In his earlier years, Marshune went to Southside Elementary for kindergarten. He then graduated from Oakstar, Leaning Heights, in attendance at St. James High School west achieving his high school diploma.

He enjoyed camping, swimming, zip-lining, water skiing, and playing basketball actively, developing his competitive and handballing skills. He worked and volunteered at Beach Out Ministries where he also helped build their ceilings and cut grass for those in nearby communities. He also spoke in and helped pass out food to those experiencing temporary homelessness at the Ashout House Ministries.

Marshune's greatest accomplishment was creating and raising his daughter, Darrah who has been Marshune's pride and joy. He was always protective and adamant over her and would frequently travel to be with her and pick her up regardless of where she was. She was his priority, and did everything he could to provide for her. Each time she went to school, he would be there to pick her up, he was never a moment he wanted to be apart from her. His social media, although full of other things, was solely for pictures and videos of his precious daughter. Marshune was also known to be highly loyal to his friends and family. He was a compassionate and loving individual you could count on. He was an immensely selfless, self-hearted person who did his best to help others throughout his life. Oftentimes, he gave them around him clothes, shoes, money, and his time sometimes which included recreational activities, volunteer work, or hours spent in laughter.

He greatly enjoyed being a source of light and strength to others. Marshune loved telling amusing jokes, while always not missing a chance, anything to bring smiles and laughter to another's laughter that day. He loved music. In his free time, he would frequently create his own songs, and listen to a variety of musical genres he was inspired by. He also had the joy of being an over-protective loving step-father for 4 years that he absolutely cherished. Marshune missed his step-mother to create a better future for himself and his daughter. His goal was to work, get his own place, and get himself back through school to continue to pursue his entrepreneurial endeavors.

He will be remembered for his hard work, his honesty, generous smile and loud laugh he kept for family and friends, as well as the magnitude of love he made those receive to express his ever-lasting love. We have no doubts that Marshune still has our backs wherever his spirit is, we know he's smiling for his family and friends. Marshune showed others through action what love, loyalty, hard work, and support meant. Marshune provided his loving and strong encouragement. Please Pray, Nelson Street Evangelical Church, Dallas, Texas, Pastor (Grandfather), Marshune Potts Sr. (Father), Valerie Floyd (mother), Deyson Potts (son), Deyson Edwards (brother), Carl Edwards (nephew) along with Darrah from kindergarten who will carry his memory and legacy forward. He also leaves behind a host of aunts, uncles, and cousins, people who loved him. "Marshune" "Big" "Marsh" "Uncle Mark", Eliph.
